

Department: Social Studies

Revised: October, 2016

SOC06A11: Students will develop spatial awareness of region/continent.

SOC06A12: Students will construct and/or analyze maps and other visual images (charts, tables, infographs, etc) to represent the interaction of physical and human characteristics.

SOC06A13: Students will explain how the interaction of physical and human characteristics of places and regions result in unique cultures.

SOC06A14: Students will analyze the movement of people, goods, and ideas.

SOC06A15: Students will evaluate causes and consequences of current global issues.

SOC07A11: Identify the location of physical and political features on a map.

SOC07A13: Understand the movement of people, ideas, and products.

SOC07A14: Understand human and environmental interaction.

SOC07B13: Understand significant events and people in the major eras of world history.

SOC07B14: Understand relationships between significant events in the E. Hemisphere.

SOC07B15: Understand the impact of major discoveries.

SOC07C11: Understand the principles of democracy and other forms of government.

SOC07C12: Understand the impact of government on individuals and the common good.

SOC07C13: Understand global connections.

SOC07D11: Understand economic concepts in the Eastern Hemisphere.

SOC07D12: Understand the characteristics that affect standard of living.

SOC07D13: Understand how natural resources affect the economy.

SOC07E11: Understand local, regional, and ethnic influences.

SOC07E12: Understand cooperation, conflict, & interdependence.

SOC08A11: Identify the location of physical and political features on a map.

SOC08A13: Understand the movement of people, ideas, and products.

SOC08A14: Understand human and environmental interaction.

SOC08A15: Understand the natural resource base of states and regions in the US.

SOC08B13: Understand significant events and people in US history.

SOC08B14: Understand the relationship between significant events in US history.

SOC08B15: Understand the impact of major discoveries.

SOC08C12: Understand the impact of government on the individual and the common good.

SOC08C13: Understand the role of global connections in the development of the US.

SOC08C14: Understand landmark political documents and decisions of the Supreme Court.

SOC08C15: Understand the development and role of political parties in US politics.

SOC08D11: Understand economic concepts in US history.

SOC08D12: Understand the characteristics that affect standard of living.

SOC08D14: Understand the role of economic institutions in the history of US.

SOC08D15: Understand different perspectives on economic issues in the US.

SOC08E11: Understand local, regional, & ethnic influences in the lives of Americans.

SOC08E12: Understand cooperation, conflict, & interdependence.